The recent fire at George Moseley's garage at Harmonville is thought to have resulted from the hot sun shining on a tin roof under which gasoline and oils were stored. No damage was done, and another fire scare for the old village occurred when the "dinkey" twice took fire the same night as the Moseley blaze. The latter fire, however, is not blamed on the hat of the sun.

ZION'S 26th ANNIVERSARY.

Sunday School of Whitemarsh Church Celebrates.

Statistical Information Given Out Proves Interesting—Regularity in Attendance of the Rickard Children—Financial Condition.

Raymond, Alvah and Harold Rickard, pupils of Zion Evangelical Lutheran Sabbath school, Whitemarsh, have not been absent from a service in the past eight years, while a brother Norman, bids fair to be as regular a pupil, as he has established a perfect record for two years W. S. Kerper, who is also a pupil of the school, was absent but four Sundays in three years. Edith and Ada Kimbel attended all but one of the services during the past year.

These interesting facts were brought out in a report to the school issued last Sunday evening, when the 26th anniversary was observed.

The officers of the school are as follows: Superintendent, Samuel Yeakle; assistant, Wm. R. Barnes; treasurer, Harry L. Barnes; secretary of the Sabbath School association, Mrs. Samuel Yeakle; pianist, Mrs. Daniel I. Nash; librarian, Harry L. Barnes; superintendent of home department, Mrs. Frank Hubler. The school comprises 11 teachers, seven officers, 119 scholars, seven in the home departments, seven on the cradle roll, making a total enrollment of 151.

The average attendance for the whole year was 93, while the average offering was $10.42, with a collection of $100 on June 5, 1921.

Mr. Yeakle, the superintendent, has set up an attendance record, which doubtless is a stimulus to his pupils, by being absent only five Sundays in a period of nine years, while Mr. Barnes was present all but nine Sundays in 16 years. During the year Myrtle and Edmond Macauley, Harold Raymond, Alvah and Norman Rickard were present at every service.

The class report shows the largest classes to be those of Mrs. Samuel Yeakle and Miss Edith Y. Clymer, which have 18 members each. B. B. Slifer has a class of 17, and Mrs. W. S. Kerper's pupils total 14. Mr. Slifer's class however, attained the honors in the collection total, having $177.57 to their credit.

During the year the school, according to the treasurer's report raised a total of $577.14, and at the close of the fiscal year on June 30 show a balance of $174.11.

The various expenditures have been as follows: Syndical benevolence, $200 current expenses of church, $125; expenses of school, $229.18; Christmas expenses, $44.30; incidental expenses, $36.75.

Ambler Still Losing.

Last Saturday Ray Wodock's Bucks County seaters handed Ambler ball players another defeat. The final score was 9 to 3. It was a regular slugging match, with Doylestown doing the most of the hitting. "Ray" certainly has his team going at top speed and they are playing the zest ball to date. In all departments the club is strong and not a point is over-looked. The A. M. tilt on July 4th was with Lansdale, and despite the fact that we played in Ambler, we had to take another defeat and when the dust cleared away Lansdale had 10 runs while all that our fellows could amass was one tally. We failed to get this one until the last session of play. Manager Amey had to press into service Robinson, who in this game showed the form of days gone by when he was recognized as the greatest outfielder that ever wore an Ambler uniform. Notwithstanding the one-sided score the game was interesting because there was a little of everything that usualy goes into making the game worth going to see. So worked up did the fans becomie on the bleechers, whether it was because of the game or heat we do not know, that a couple of them even went so far as to square off at one another, but it was soon over and the game went on. In the afternoon the team went to Chestnut Hill and another defeat was chalked up against them. Douglass was the real offender in allowing the game to go to the Hillers by the score of 7 to 5. Outside of Sharkey's batting and fielding there was not a redeeming feature of playing.

So far as baseball was concerned it was a very unsatisfactory day. Manager Amey's troubles began early. First the pitcher and an outfielder for the morning game failed to show up, and in addition Hetzell, the regular boxman, also failed to put in his appearance until the game was very nearly over. The trouble did not end here. Martin first baseman of the club at the last moment, it is said, demanded an increase and said if it was not forthcoming he would not play. Manager Amey refused to be held up and Martin did not play. Baier was sent to the hill, and Robinson, as stated above, obliged by playing center field. After the game at Chestnut Hill several of the players were released, and when the bell rings for the game on July 16, July 9th being an open date, almost a new team will be placed in the field. Some of the players who have been released have retained their uniforms and refuse to give them up. As the suits are the property of the club the association's attorney, Harold G. Knight, Esq., has been instructed to have warrants sworn out for the arrest of the players who have thus far refused to turn in their uniforms. This action was taken at a meeting of the association held Tuesday evening when it was also decided to cut down the expense of the team for the remainder of the season.

The results of the games played July 4th, were: A. M., Souderton 5, Chestnut Hill 3; Conshohocken 4, Doylestown 3, 10 innings; P. M., Souderton 8, Conshohocken 5; Doylestown 10, Lansdale 6, 10 innings.

Next Saturday is an open date. However, Conshohocken and Chestnut Hill have a postponed game to play off.

While the other members of the troop were in the water ,however, the the lad removed his shoes and stockings and started to wade in the water his actions were unnoticed by his companions until they heard his cry for help. The Fourth in Ambler

July 4th was celebrated in a fitting manner by the residents, of Ambler and vicinity. More than 1500 people assembled on Lindenwold field as the guests of the Norton Downs Post, No. 125, American Legion. There were sports, addresses, music, fireworks and motion pictures to entertain the big crowd. Despite the heat the celebration was enjoyed by everybody. Rev. Ralph L. Mayberry was announcer and also had charge of the sports. There were several interesting races among the boys and girls, but the real feature was a tug-o-war between a number of men and boys. The evenings program started at 7 o'clock and continued until almost 11 o'clock. On this occasion the residents of Ambler and vicinity for the first time had the honor of listening to the Hon. James A. Dunn, Republic floor leader of the state senate, and who has the honor, of being the father of more humane bills that have become laws than any other representative who ever went to Harrisburg. The child labor law, Workman's Compensation and laws requiring shorter hours for women are among the bills championed by Senator Dunn. Senator E. H. Vare introduced the speaker, and a more patriotic address was never before listened to here. The entire celebration has a success beyond the expectation of the committee, who desire to express their thanks to all who assisted in the work and especially to those who contributed the funds necessary to carry out the celebration as planned. The Ambler band, under the direction of Prof. Frank Barcasa, furnished excellent music and rendered a number of patriotic selections during the evening. It is to be hoped that a permanent organization will now have an even larger celebration next year.

Rapid progress is being made with the concreting of the Doylestown pike towards the Horsham store, and the end of the present week, with favorable weather and no serious breakdowns, should witness the sealing in of the road from the Bucks county line to Willow Grove. After being closed the required time to allow the cement to harden, the road should be opened the last of the present month. THE OLD CONARD FAMILY.

Recollections of James and Joseph P. Conard.

James. Born May 30, No. 6, Served With Son in Civil War—Lived in Delaware—Joseph, Born Dec. 24, 1812, Lived in Whitpain.

The following paper prepared by John Conard, of Springhouse, was read at the Conard Reunion held at Horsham on June 18:

It has been suggested by the Executive committee that we take up as subjects for the 18th annual reunion of the descendants of John Conard, of Whitpain and Sarah Childs his wife the two branches of the family headed by James the eldest son, and Jos. P. Conard, the fourth child and third son.

James was born at the old homestead, 5-30-1806, went when quite a young man to Chester county to learn the milling trade. He was married, 6-6-1834, to Sarah Starringer, of Upper Dublin. At the time of their marriage her home was with her uncle, Augustus Brock, though lame, quite a progressive farmer of Upper Dublin.

My first recollection of Uncle Jimmie. They lived in the tenant house at the old homestead at the corner of the Sandy Hill road and Styer's lane. Next place I remember was on the Morris road near the foot of Mount Pleasant hill. Next they lived corner of Morris road and Broad Axe and Plymouth pike. He then worked at Joseph Luken's Mill, on the Morris road, which was torn down to make way for Flue's Silk mill, which has long since become a memory only. Next I recall they lived on the farm on Engard town road which was their home during the civil war, Uncle Jimmie and son Augustus B. were both in the army. Many letters I have carried to Aunt Sarah and Adaline. When father and son were both in the war the postoffice was at Witemarsh below Fort Side inn. After selling the farm to Charles Aiman, Aunt Sarah went to live with her daughter, Adaline, wife of Theodore Fleck. Uncle Jimmie made his home with his son, Augustus B., near Dover, Delware, where he died and is buried at Camden, Delaware.

My last recollection of him I think was upon the occasion of a visit to Pennsylvania. He came to my home and staid to dinner. How well I remember how he enjoyed the vegetable soup we had made from fresh corn and lima beans from our own garden. He told us how many times he had nursed my wife when quite a child and often danced her upon his knee, and rode her a horseback on his foot. After dinner he showed my girls how to eat an apple. He cut it in half and scraped out the inside with a knife, he had no teeth. He was tall and thin took after the Childs branch of the family.

Joseph P. Conard was born 12-24-1812, died 11-26-1897, married Rebecca Shaw, 3-24-35, had nine children, two died young, four sons and five daughters. He was a farmer and business man not so tall as his brother James, but stouter, more like the Conard side of the family. He required a roomey chair to sit in comfortably. He went to Philadelphia to market every week, was interested in several corporations—The Skippack pike, Narcissa Creamery, settled several estates, was executor with his brother Peter to the Estae of his father, Aunt Tacy's and others, was guardian for us children from 1864 until each became of age.

My first recollection of him he and Aunt Rebecca lived on the farm on the Skippack above Blue Bell, where I made many pleasant visits in my youthful days. This was after Ann Buckman and Mary Shoemaker had gone from the home farm. Alice and Elizabeth were housekeepers. Aunt Rebecca was frail and not very strong though she had been a good and efficient housekeeper in her younger days.

I once heard Uncle Joseph say that when they were building their house and barn that Aunt Rebecca boarded 11 mechanics, took care of the milk and butter of a dairy of 11 cows, having a young child in her arms, with the help only of a half grown girl. After Aunt Rebecca died and he sold his farm to his son, H. Fasset, he lived with his daughter Mary Shoemaker, continuing to go to market for a time then gave it up to Charles Shoemaker. After Jacob Buckman bought the farm in Plymouth he made his home with them.

In 1893 my sister Sallie and I went with Uncle Joseph and Ann Buckman to the Columbian exposition at Chicago. We rode in the next seat back of them from Philadelphia to Chicago. We had a little experience with the intelligence of one of the Chicago police officers the night of our arrival. We were directed to take a trolley car on LaSalle street to a certain corner where we would find the hotel to which we had been directed upon arriving at the corner, 1 o'clock a. m. we asked the policeman standing on the corner for the hotel. He informed us that he had heard tell of the name, but could not tell where it was The main entrance of the hotel we were seeking was not 100 feet from the corner on which he stood. We stayed together at the boarding house of Charles Lukens, Prairie avenue. We went to the fair several days together. Upon leaving the fair one evening on the Cottage Grove avenue side we heard a military band playing on the grass plot, then heard a solo on the cornet by the leader of the band, who was starting upon his great career as a band leader. It was Sousa. After attending the fair we went to the railroad depot with Uncle Joseph and Ann Buckman saw them on the train for Kellogg, Iowa, to visit his son Elwood.

One day he came to our house, wanted me to cut his hair, as he had been accustomed to cut the hair of a neighbor, he in turn cutting his. The neighbor having died, he wanted me to cut it. As he had never been in a barber shop he decided to enter one.

The time he came to father's to ask sister Sallie to accompany them to the World's fair she told him she was so busy she could not be spared to go. He said, "Sallie, did thee ever take a full bucket of water, stick thy finger in the water, and examine the hole left when thee pulled it out? That is just how much we will be missed."

The patriotism displayed by the grandsons and great-grandsons of Uncle Joseph during the late war has not been excelled, if indeed it has been equaled, by the descendants of German Americans. Their more than 200 years of Americans having entirely worn away the name of German-American typhen and all. Mark you these grandsons and great-grandsons of only one of the twelve children of John Conard of Whitpain who was the grandson of Henry Conard of Whitpain, the sixth child and fourth son of Thones Kunders, one of the 13 settlers, who under the leadership of Daniel Joseph Pastorio settled Germantown, came from Cresheim, on the lower Rhine in Germany, a few miles from the boarder line of Holland. They arrived in Philadelphia Oct. 6th, 1863, 74 days in crossing the Atlantic, to whose memory. A monument was unveiled Oct. 13th, 1920 in Vernon Park. It was erected several years before by the Crefelt Society of Germantown, but owing to fear of German propoganda by some one high in authority was not unveiled sooner.

These grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Joseph were only a very small fraction of the descendants of Thones Kunders. One grandchild was a first lieutenant, Co. D., 338th Machine Gun, 88th division, went from Iowa across the sea was in the front trenches near Metz waiting for the signal for the fight to begin when the news was flashed to them that the armistice had been signed and the war was ended. Another, Stoddert P. Grey, the consort fo a granddaughter served as surgeon in Camp and hospital with rank of captain.

One of the great-grandsons in Co. C., 111th Infantry, was left sleeping 'neath the poppy blooms some, where in France. His brother was a mechanician in the American air base in England. Another was skipper of a submarine chaser on guard along the Atlantic sea coast. Another, though prevented from going across the sea with the others by an affection of the heart, he served his time driving an army truck in a camp in the sunny south land. Yet another was drawn for service, but owing to his being a farmer and having dependents, he was placed on the waiting list.

Two others of these great-grandsons were selected for service, were the uniform with dignity and honor, being in training but were not needed across the sea. Count them for your own satisfaction.

When settling Aunt Tacy's estate he gave me a bunch of papers to look over, if I thought them of any account to keep them and burn the rest, which I did, keeping three papers which I believe become more valuable each added year. I have them here for your examination and inspection. It was my privilege to be one of the cortage that followed him from Buckman's to Plymouth Meeting, the place of his burial.

Drops Dead After Jury Duty.

Just as he was about to leave for his home in Haycock township, after having served for two weeks as a Bucks county criminal court juror, Jacob Nicholas, 69 years old, a well known farmer, dropped dead from heart disease in a store at Doylestown, Friday afternoon, June 17, as he was buying a new suit of clothes.

Is Refused His Child.

Without comment, the court has handed down a refusal of the petition of Clara Renner, of West Conshohocken, for return to her of her daughter, Lettie Himmelwright, who is a ward of the Juvenile court.

Mrs. Renner is the alleged "much-married woman," the remarkable tale of whose varied marital adventures as revealed by the testimony in the proceeding elicited much interest at county court.

—Montgomery county lawyers gave a testimonial dinner and outing at Morris, N. J., to Neville D. Tyson, next to the oldest member of the Bar.

You can't beat a Camel, because you can't beat the tobacco that goes into Camels.

That's why Camels are the choice of men who know and love fine tobacco. They know what makes Camels so smooth, so fragrant and mellow-mild.

They'll tell you that the expert Camel blend of choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos makes a cigarette smoke you can't equal—no matter what you pay.

But it doesn't take an expert to tell Camel quality. You'll spot it the very first puff. Try Camels yourself.

Clifford Reifsnyder, of Rosemary avenue, electrician in the employ of the Philadelphia Suburban Gas and electric company, who was badly burned last week by coming in contact with a live wire at the Cruse-Kemper company's plant, is recovering nicely at the Chestnut Hill hospital. The accident happened while Reifsnyder was adjusting a fuse that had blown out. In his hip pocket, it is said, he carried a screwdriver and was this that came in contact with a live wire heavily charged.

An enthusiastic meeting was held in Town hall Tuesday evening to consider ways and means to help the Ambler baseball club. The meeting was well attended and considerable interest was shown. Those present were of the opinion, that the team should stay in the league and players be procured that will show enough interest to play their best to win the ball games. Much credit was given Manager Amey for the successful manner in which he has handed the team during its disappointing campaign and his hard work in securing funds to continue baseball in Ambler. In order to aid Manager Amey, William Urban was elected assitant manager and will help in directing the play together with the captain. Rev. Ralph L. Mayberry gave an enthusiastic talk on boosting the team and in his remarks he did not spare the rooters who throw down the team just because it happens to be losing. He urged all to stand by Manager Amey and the officials who have been doing such excellent work in giving Ambler baseball for the past several years. Mr. Mayberry also took the opportunity to thank and congratulate the officials in having so successfully taken the stand against gambling at the games. John M. Dernsam, of the Alloway Paint corporation, was present and also gave an interesting talk along the lines of boosting the club. Mr. Dernsam is a former big league, player and he gladly gave some deductions gamed from his wide experience. In conclusion he said he was greatly in favor of Mr. Mayberry's suggestion to form a rooters' association and added that such an organization should be started at once. Secretary William Laughlin was not long in getting on the job in asking volunteers for the new association, and in a short time quite a number were enrolled who pledged themselves to contribute at least 50 cents a week, besides their regular admission, to the games. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening in the Town hall, after which regular meeting quarters will be secured in a central part of the town. Everybody is invited to attend the meeting and lend towards the successful movement now started to give Ambler a great ball team.

The speeding of automobiles over the new cement road here is fast becoming a menace to the traveling public,, and the sooner it is stopped the safer it will be for all concerned. The state police have been notified and it is likely we will see an officer patroling this section in the near future. The action taken by the state highway department in revoking the licenses of violators of the automobile laws is the best action that can be taken, as it will mean that we will soon be rid of the speed mana as well as others who disregarded the law.

This Thursday evening there will be a very important meeting of the Flourtown Fire company ,and every member who can should attend and take part in the business. It is planned to pay off the mortgage by the funds raised through the sale of the land under consideration. During the last few years rapid progress has been made by the local company, and the members are to be congratulated for their efforts to acquire their own property and at the same time maintain the splendid efficiency in the excellent equipment it has and the successful manner in which fires are fought.

The annual picnic of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Sunday school will occur on Saturday, July 16th, at Forest park, Chalfont. Auto trucks will leave the church at 9 o'clock, daylight saving time.

The result of the long continued strike in the building trades in all the large cities is being severely felt in Ambler and is the cause of the week's shut-down of the factory here, which in its effort to provide regular work for its employes has accumulated an enormous stock of manufactured goods, for which there is at present very little sale.

The Sewing Circle and members and friends of St. John's Lutheran church gave a reception in the church to their pastor Rev. G. A. Knerr, and wife on Wednesday evening, June 29th. Mrs. S. S. Gehman, president o the Sewing Circle, presided. A musical program was rendered. Miss Laura Henigerford, of Hatboro, gave a few selections on the violin and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rile, of North Wales, rendered solos. Mrs. Gehman, on behalf of the people present, tendered the pastor and his wife with a purse containing $50 in gold. Ice cream and cakes were served to all present. 10 new members were also welcomed.

Dr. Richard V. Mattison is advising his employes to refrain from spending any more money unnecessarily than they can help. As the outlook is for a winter of great industrial distress, the logical result of the long continued strike in the building trades, which if not settled before the close of this month will prevent any appreciable amount of housing from being started this season. This will lead to great distress next winter and people are advised to save their money for a rainy day.

The Asbestos Shingle Slate and Sheathing Company, in its efforts to keep its employes together, is storing its daily production of shingles, in the new electric manufacturing plant, it having accumulated an enormous amount of shingles in the warehouses connected with its manufacturing plant. It is hoped that the mechanics in the cities will go to work soon in order to prevent Ambler's industries from being closed down.

Dancing and games were enjoyed by the young people. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant day was spent by all. Mrs. E. J. Santos will leave for Philadelphia, this week.

The Asbestos Shingle Slate and Sheathing Company reduced its prices for asbestos shingles and other asbestos products July 1st in order to help along the prospective building campaign and secure as much work as possible for the coming autumn and winter, which management fears may be attended with much suffering among the families of the unemployed.

The K. & M. and the Ambler teams of the Twin-County league are on even terms with five victories and two defeats. On July 4 these clubs met and after a well played contest the K. & M. boys won 11 to 5. Ritchie was hit freely, but he kept the runs scattered. K. & M. made but seven hits off Supplee, but the victors played an errorless game, while the losers' four errors figured heavily.

Owing to the state of his health, which is in a precarious condition, E. Clive Hammond, secretary and assistant treasurer of Ambler Trust Company, has resigned his position with that institution. Mr. Hammond suffered a breakdown last May, which it was thought would be only temporary; but a stay of two weeks in the hospital at Sellersville and a month's rest at his home having failed to restore him to health, he has been obliged to give up business indefinitely and devote his entire efforts to regaining his physical strength.

A couple of strong backers are possessed by the Souderton and Ambler baseball teams. Prothonotary Harvey Frederick and Attorney Harold G. Knight, bet 30 cents on the result of the July 2 game between their respective towns, and Souderton brought the slice of bacon to Harvey. The only thing wrong about the bet thus far is that it hasn't been paid. —Norristown newspaper. Mr. Knight, who has been full of pep lately, as Mr. Strassburger, will doubtless verify, when shown the article, said: "The debt has been paid. There was only one other man present when the wager was made and he is a newspaer reported. We did not think he could be trusted with such a large sum, hence we had no stakeholder."

"That was a fine affair we had in Ambler on the evening of July 4, and the legion deserves credit for its success," said an Ambler resident, "and we need more of them," he added. Then he continued, "We should have more community spirit, more pride and enthusiasm in our town, more of the spirit of helpfulness and of cooperation. Of course we have our little cleques, our clubs, our lodges, our churches, but there is also room, if we will allow it, for the great community spirit, which links together all these other interests and molds them into a grand and a better Ambler. Let's have more of these town gatherings. Put aside our jealousies and let our broaded instincts and better selves smother and stamp out the petty jealousies for the general onward and upward movement of the town as a whole. Let's be boosters for Ambler and all of our activities and interests and then the town and its influence will grow as never before."

Chalfont Had Fire with Firemen Away.

Lightning struck the gasoline house connected with Frank D. Good's hay press, Chalfont on a recent Saturday afternoon, while the Chalfont Fire Company was participating in the county firemen's parade in Doylestown but fortunately a reserve chemical wagon was at hand and saved the other buildings.

An amazing feature of the fire was that although the heat melted the solder on the top of a tank of 300 gallons of gasoline the inflammable liquid did not explode or get afire before it was removed.

County Health Man Takes Over 50 Jobs.

Health Officer White has been notified of the appointment of Thomas P. Nicholson, of North Wales, as Health Officer of Montgomery county by the state board of health. The territory of the new official will include the entire county excepting the boroughs and Lower Merion township which have their own health officers

The state department recently requested the resignations of some 50 township officials who will be succeeded by the new appointee who will cover all townships except Lower Merion, placarding and investigating contagious diseases. The apointment will not effect Norristown.

A report has been filed with the court by Attorney Walter M. Shaw, in behalf of himself and others composing a jury of view, for the purpose of widening Church road — Cheltenham township from Cedar road to Willow Grove turnpike.

The jury recommends the widening of the road to 40 feet from Ogontz avenue to Old York road and 50 feet from Mill road to Ogontz avenue.

Church road was laid out in 1734 and extended from Oxford Church in Philadelphia to St. Thomas' church, Whitemarsh. Originally it was 33 feet wide, but at the present time, at some points it is as narrow as 21 feet. Because of this condition and the fact that there are no pavements or sidewalks for pedestrains residents of that section generally ask for the widening.

Damages ranging from $25 to $3000, the latter being to Alfred Tyson, proprietor of the Ogontz hotel, were awarded to 22 property holders, the total aggregating approximately $10,000.

Cows Average $97.

Sixteen cows were sold for an average of $97, by Holbert & Son, on July 1, Warrington, at a public auction held for Morris Goldstein. The low price was $60 and the top was $144.

A Fordson tractor was bid to $450 and withdrawn, but a Ford touring car was sold for $125.

Two bulls brought $45 and $60 respectively and a horse sold for $125.

It is proposed to make an expenditure of at least $30,000; and put up a building that will be a credit to the community.

The present property of the lodge was purchased by Charles M. Meredith, of Quakertown. Operations are planned to begin early next spring.

Miss Elizabeth Blattner, of Belfry, is spending her vacation camping with a party of friends along the Perkiomen.

Quite a large number of people coming from Philadelphia, Atlantic City and other nearby sections were guests of the Taylor farm over the holidays. Many of those who came without making reservations were unable to find accommodations at the farm. However, through the courtesy of neighbors the late comers were accommodated the quarters were found in a number of the homes nearby. Accommodations for 10 was found at the Centre Square hotel.

WEST POINT.

All business places here were closed Monday.

The harvesting of hay and grain crops is now in full swing.

A number of our farmers attended farmers' week at State college recently.

About 24 head of cattle were recently killed for the farmers of this section by direction of the state authorities, as the cattle were found to be afflicted with tuberculosis. There were a number in the herd of Howard Schultz and A. K. Kriebel that had to be killed also.

This place was very patriotic on Monday, Independence day. Everybody was out celebrating and participating, in the demonstration, as arranged by the West Point Athletic association. There were a number of field sports in the forenoon, and directly after lunch there was a parade in which the local organizations took part. Headed by the Norristown band the line of march was over the principal streets and later led to the ball park where there was a flag raising and a rousing patriotic address delivered by Samuel D. Conver, Esq., of Lansdale. A baseball game followed between the West Point and Germantown teams which was won by the visitors by the score of 18 to 16. In the evening community singing was enjoyed in the park.

An enjoyable musical recital was given one evening last week in the P. O. S. of A. hall by the pupils of Miss Myrtle Mattern and Miss Florence Leister.

The Upper Gwynedd township school board met last Saturday afternoon to organize. The faculty having been elected the only business to consider was the election of a treasurer and secretary. Irwin Kulp and James Reed were reelected to these offices.

Miss Bee, of the Morris road, has purchased a Ford Sedan and will house it in newly built garage along side of her home.

Miss Sarah D. Knipe has gone to Ocean City, N. J. to spend some time.

Royal Mattison and Charles C. Maull have returned from a business trip to Chicago, Ill.

The late rains have about saved the gardens from perishing. As it was, the terrific heat and prolonged dry weather have shortened the sweet corn, and stunted other growth. Tomatoes only half grown and developed reddended under the hot son, while cabbage and lima beans wilted also.

A reliable, dependable, easy running, easy riding, economical in gasoline, oil and assuring long life to tires—such is the car you are looking for. I beg to call your attention to the Buick. Examine it critically, ask a Buick owner and let me demonstrate its many commendable features. —Rudolph Speelhoffer, agent. adv

Ambler A. A. played the Irish Giants on the South Spring Garden street grounds last Wednesday evening. A shower came up before time to start the game, which made part of the infield a sea of mud and difficult to play on. The visitors proved to be the best mud horses and were able to carry off the honors by the score of 3 to 0. The Giants have a stormy team, and as their battery they have Toner and Ryan, formerly with the National League. The locals gave another exhibition of playing for hits instead of runs. In one inning Toner retired the side on three pitched balls and during the game he retired 10 batters on as many pitched balls.

Amos Walton has finished puttinng a fence about Edward Giles' property, Greenwood and Mattison avenues.

The Daily Vacation Bible school, which opens this Thursday morning, is one of the advancements made through the Ambler Red Cross towards solving the problem of keeping children off the streets for a certain number of hours each school day, and at the same time is teaching them something worth while. The churches and Colony club being also sponsors for the movement means that great things may be expected from the school this year. Parents should see that their children are enrolled and also lend their support to the movement.

A resident in speaking recently of organizations, said, "Ambler should have a "Y. M. C. A.," and more reasons than one was advanced for such an organization. He said now that hotels, in boroughs like Ambler do not provide accomodations, traveling men are looking up Y. M. C. A's as their stopping places. Then, there is the great advantage to the young man to be a members of a "Y." The training he receives is of much benefit to him in later life. "The great trouble with the people of our borough," he continued, "is that they wish to start such things on too large a scale, which is the reason for their failure." Let us hope that some one may see the light and that Ambler will soon have a Y. M. C. A. that will help our young men to live a more useful life.

1500 Chinese Picnic in Park at Chalfont

Forest Park, Chalfont, was invaded recently by 1500 Chinamen and their wives and families, all being members of the Chinese Baptist' churches and missions of Philadelphia. The event was a picnic given to raise funds for the China famine fund. The money was raised by the sale of tickets for the picnic.

Some real Chinatown sights were in evidence during the frolic at the park. In the dance pavillion, the Chinamen did their famous Lion dance that is done every New Years in China. One of the Chinamen dances for more than an hour with a lion's head over his own head, to the tune of a noisy chinese band.

The trip from Philadelphia to the park was made in a special train over the Philadelphia and Reading.

Clinic Held at Hoopeston—Business Conditions Very Dull—Abram Beyer Recovering From Accident—Personal and Miscellaneous Items of Interest.

Leo Spiekermann spent Friday with friends at Hazelton.

William Lightkep, who has been quite ill at his home in Jarrettown, is now reported to be improving.

The road making machinery, which was at work on the turnpike moving southward towards Mathers lane, has been moved to the section north of Tennis avenue, Ambler, where the road is closed to travel.

General repairs are now being made at Hoopeston Mills.

Thomas Worrell is moving from the Lightkep property to the house formerly tenanted by Raymond Frankenfield, and the family now residing in N. C. Duttarer's house will move to the Lightkep property.

The residents of Fort Washington-Hoopeston section will be pleased to know that the clinic, under the auspices of the Ambler branch of the Red Cross was successfully opened last Thursday. Through the courtesy of the Hoopes and Townsend company one of the houses in Hoopeston row has been prepared for the purpose. The side walls and ceiling have been enameled white and the floors nicely varnished. At the opening last Thursday there were present: Mrs. Norton Downs, Mrs. Charles Ingersol, president and treasurer of the Ambler Red Cross; Mrs. Mary F. C. Leute, field worker of the Red Cross; Miss Kate Brusstar, county probation officer; Miss Brown, county nurse; Frederick Slater and John Morris, officials of Hoopes and Townsend company mills. Dr. A. J. Craig, and community nurses, Miss Kohl and Miss Willets were in charge, and 26 cases were brought to the clinic for treatment. Of this number 19 were given treatment and seven were continued. Despite the heat the place was cool and inviting, and during the afternoon refreshments of lemonade and cake were served to the mothers by the ladies in attendance. The clinic will be held every Thursday, and the work done here will be followed up by the community nurses. To those interested the opening was beyond all expectations, and they were loud in their praise to the Red Cross Dr. Craig and the nurses for the arrangements and carrying out the work. There is no doubt, but that splendid results will be obtained and many parents will feel grateful for having saved their children which through ignorance might have been compelled to live a life of pain and suffering and in addition its a known fact that some children are inclined to do wrong because of some physical defects ,which too, bring pain and suffering in the home.

A very serious accident happened here one day last week when Abram Beyer, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Beyer, who now own the former Goldstein farm, had his leg cut off a few inches above the ankle by the knives of a mowing machine. Those who were nearby at the time say that the boy was standing at the head of the horses while the driver, John Koeblin, was seated on the machine ready to start mowing when the horses without warning gave a jump and started to rapidly pull the machine. The unfortunate boy was directly in the path of the knives, and before he could get out of the way one leg was caught and severed just above the ankle. Dr. A. J. Craig was called and after giving first aid he had the unfortunate boy sent to the Abington hospital, where about two inches more of the leg was amputated. The last report from the hospital is to the effect that he is doing as well as can be expected.

Waiting for Others to Begin.

All of us have to live on what all of us produce. We can all live better when all of us produce more, and not so well when all of us produce less. If each would do more and better work there would be more good things for all, but if each does less there will be fewer.

Those are truisms that should need neither explanation nor argument, yet there are people who seem to think that they can gain by reducing their output, or by doing less work. The futility of such a policy will be clear to anyone who will think what would happen if everyone acted on it.

Let us suppose that all who are engaged in a given industry should decide to do less work, or in some way to produce less to the man, on the theory that it would then take more men to carry on the industry. No matter what might happen if everyone else kept on producing at the old rate, it is certain that the new policy would fail if those in other industries were to act in the same way. If those who produce the raw material used in a manufacturing industry should reduce their output, there would be less work for the factories to do, and less need of men to do it. Again, if those who produce other commodities that the workers in that industry need were also to cut down their production, there would be fewer goods to give in exchange for the products of the industry. The further the policy is carried the worse it becomes for everyone, until it lands us at last in the certainty that when all of us produce less, all of us must live on less.

It takes a broad-minded group of workers to see any reason why they should begin to do more work unless everyone else will do it, too. They may see clearly that it would be to the advantage of everyone, including themselves, if everyone else will do it, too. They must see clearly that it would be to the advantage of everyone, including themselves, if everyone would begin at once to do more work; that while each person would be giving better service he would at he same time be receiving better service from a multitude of other people, which would be greatly to his advantage. They might even say, "Yes, we see the advantage of that when it becomes universal; and we are willing to begin when everyone else does; but why should we begin until the others do?" Why should we give better service until we are assured that everyone else is going to give us better service in return?"

It is evident that so long as we all talk and act in that way no one will begin and we shall get nowhere. Progress comes only when there are people who are willing to begin at once to do better work without waiting for the rest. The leaders of progress, the builders of civilization, are not those who hang back on an issue of this kind; they are the people who begin at once, without waiting for others. When it is clear to them that everyone ought to act in a certain way they are willing to act in that way whether anyone else does or not. They are the only people who can break the deadlock that is formed when all hang back and wait each for the others to begin.
